OU want your clothes to fit, of course; some men consider fit so important that they pay extra prices for it; or send their measurements away to some unknown maker; or go to other trouble, thinking that fit in clothes is a matter of exact inches this way or that.

Fit is in the way clothes hang; the designer has more to do with it than anyone else; if he drapes the garment right and you get your general size, the clothes will fit.

That's why Hart Schaffner & Marx clothes fit so well; they're designed for it. And the fit lasts, because of all-wool fabrics, thorough tailoring and the right models.

> We want you to wear Hart Schaffner & Marx Clothes for the good you'll get out of them. Suits $18 to $25.

We have suits of other makes for less money, $10, $12.50 and $15, the very best that can be had for the price.

And don't overlook the fact that we show the most elegant line of shoes and furnishings in these parts.

SOUTH'S COTTON CROP

WE RAISE 66 PER CENT. OF WORLD'S PRODUCTION.

Supply for Mill Consumption In 19, 574,000 Bales-Texas Leads All Statas.

Washington,-According to n recent report of the Census Bureau, the United States produced lu 1908 two thirds of the world's factory supply of cotton. The world's production of cotton for mill communition in 1908 is estimated at 19, 574,000 bales of 500 pounds net, com pared with 16,512,000 in 1907. The production in the United States, using the figures of the Consus Bureau, expressed in net weight baies, was 13,002,000, aurepresents 16 per ceut, of the total com mercial cotton produced. Itritish India which ranks accoud, produced 2.914,000 bales, or 15 per cent. Most of the remainder is produced in Chlus and Itrazii while smaller quantities are contributed by Mexico, Feru, Turkey, Fersia and sev eral other countries.

Of the total production in the United States in 1908, 6,232,128 bales, or 49.3 per cent. come from the territory west of the Mississippi river, while the States east of the Mississippi contributed 7, 355,178 bales, or 54.1 per cent.

The 1908 cutton erop for the United States represents an increase over 1907 of 2,211,845 bales, or 19,4 per cent. It is the third largest crop ever produced, being exceeded only by the crops of 1904 and 1906, and is 078,751 bales larger than the average crop of the last five

In the State of Texas, the second largest crop is reported, the flaures for 1908 being 3,913,084 baies, which is exceeded only hy that of 1906, which was 368,740 hales larger. In Texas there was a remarkable failing off in the cotton production for 1907, the percentage being 44.9 per cent., as compared with 1906. But this State increased its crop in 1908 by 65.8 per cent. over 1907. Texas alone produced 25.8 per cent. of the total for the country for the period covered in Washington .- President Taft and Senator Aldrich were in conference an hour and a half at the executive offices Tucaday afternoon.

The tariff is understood to have been the topic under discussion. No statement was given out with regard to the conference. Specifically it was said at the White House that there was nothing to be said about the unnonncement that the president will be called upon to act as arbitrator between the Senate and House conferees on the tariff bill.

This announcement has greatly simplified the situation. It is generally supposed that this arrangement will put the president in a position largely to get from the conference the kimi of which he believes will meet the plutform pledges of his party.

Confederate ened out: "Dixle! Give us Dixle!"

The cry was taken up. It came from all quarters of the house. Prof. Savhy who was in the act of taking his seat, wavered, annied, and with indulgent good humor, lifted his baton. The strains of "Divie" crashed upon the tumult and strove with cheers for pre-eminence, Maybe the old boys in gray don't like

Col. Lewis Guion, of New Orleans, was then introduced, and appealed eloquently to the veterans and their friends to take up the work of erecting suitable moniments to the brave Confederate dead eiting what had been accomplished in this direction by the Federal survivors of tho war. He admitted the disparity in financial means between the two sections. but urged that the people of the South should do what they could to perpetuate the memory of their heroes before the last of them shall have passed away. Col. A. J. Flarris, of the monument com militee, read his report. Col. S. A. Cunningham, of the Veteran, spoke briefly on behalf of his publication, and the convention adjourned until Wednesday.

Cabinet Vetoes "More Daylight" Plan

WASHINGTON -Father Time has scored another victory, President Taft and his cabinet, after mature deliberation, have decided not to encroach upon his prerogatives or question his right to run the clocks of the its effect upon the ratiroads. government. Whatever distress may have been caused the old man by the suggestion that the government could regulate its clocks and run them without regard to the rising and aetting of the sun was removed the other day when the cabinet formally decided that it would not attempt to interfere with the well established routine of sffairs.

The federal clocks will continue to tick out standard time and Father Time, with absolute confidence, can depend upon their accuracy.

The federal employe will not be required to set his starm clock to commence work with the rising of the ann, nor will he he free to gambot on the green during the hours of early afternoon. His allotted toll will be performed during office hours which have long been established.

While it was generally admitted by the government clerks.

he president and his advisers that the welfare of the clerks and the huaineas interests of the government could be promoted ao far as the volume of work was concerned, by regulating the hours of labor according to the rising of the sun, it was found that the plana which have been advanced by organized movements in Circinnati and other western cities and are to receive parliamentary conalderation in England are not feasible short of a revolution which would disturb hanking and commercial conditions generally and be widesprend in

Advantages to be derived by per mitting government clerks atl over the country to commence work in the cool hours of early morning during the aummer season and diacontinue labors in the early afternoon, with ample opportunity to enjoy the suafight in daily afternoon vacations, appealed to the president. However, in view of the fact that the government could not compet financial and commercial houses to adjust themselves to the proposed change, and the further consideration that the business of the post office department would be vitally affected, entailing a change of schedules upon all ratiroads, caused the administration to decide not to attempt to encrouch upon the prerogatives of Father Time and for the present at least there will be no change in the daily routine of

Job for Widow to Atone for Injustice

TO try to atone for injustice done to her husband by the United States, President Taft has ordered the appointment of Mrs. Niaa 1.. Carrington to a position in the civil service without an examination.

Mrs. Carrington is the widow of the inte Maj. Frank del Carrington, at one United States infantry. Maj. 'Carrington was convicted by a civil court in the thillippines on a charge of misappropriation of fuads. He was aentenced under the Spanish code to penal servitude for a term of 60

This sentence was nutlified by a decision of the United States supreme court, and Maj. Carrington was released after he had aerved aeveral death he was survived by a widow and two daughtera.

Maj. Carrington came under the jurisdiction of the inaular courts as a result of his transfer for temporary duty from the Twenty-first infantry to the command of a battalion of Filipino acouta. He commanded thia battalion at the time it was brought to St. Louis in 1903, to take part in the exposition.

The churges against him were hased on financial operations which took place at that time. Many of hia brother officers insisted that the difficulties in which he became involved were the result of curelesaness rather than criminal intent. The evidence time an officer in the Twenty-first against him, however, was sufficient to cause his court-martisl and conse quent diamissal from the army. His conviction by the courts of the islands was followed by imprisonment in Blinbld prison.

During his incarceration, Mrs. Carriagton and her daughters, through the efforts of influential friends, secured positions in some of the governaient departments la Washington. The order issued by the president months. He lived for some time in places the widow of the convicted of Manlin after his retense. At his ticer in the classified aervice.

Switchboard Ordered.

The Hickman Independent Home Telephone Co. has ordered a new 200-drop Swedish-American switchboard to be installed in this city in a short time. C. R. White, representing the telephone supply house was here yesterday and assured us that the board would reach Hickman within the next ten days. He is, a practical telephone man, and will look after putting in the new board when it arrives and also running out the cables, etc.

Manager Davis, we understand, has arranged for the central office to be located in a part of the building used by Cotton & Adams, and that every business house in Hickman except two have promised to take phones.

Obion county is also preparing to establish an independent system. W. G. Reynolds, of Union City, acting manager writes: "We are about to establish an independent telephone company in this county and will want to arrange for connection, as soon as possible, with the Hickman company, with the ultimate end in view of long distance connections all over the state. We might arrange a date in the near future to get together and establish rates and such other business as will come up for our consideration."

From all indications, this time next year Western Kentucky and Tennessee will not be at the mercy of the Cumberland.

R. M. Isler, one of the stockholders of the Richmond & Bond Oil Co. informs us that this company paid their first dividend last week, amounting to 10 per cent. They have also put a lot of new machinery and otherwise improved the plant.

Bob Isler will leave June 30th for Paducah, where he will be employed in the office of the Southern Express Co. We have not yet learned whether or not he will take anybody with him.

Henry Metheny, of Cario, was here on business yesterday. Mr. Metheny is still connected with the Southern Wood Supply Co.

Death of Mrs. Mollie Warren.

After many months of patient suf-fering, Mrs Moliie Warren, of this city, passed into the Great Beyond -from whence no traveler ever 1eturns. With a full knowledge of her critical condition, she bore up bravely till the last. Death came at 11 o'clock Saturday night, and the summons to "come up higher" was answered with calm resignation and peace. Death was the culmination of a long illness of nucrosthiena.

·This good lady was one of the the highly respected and most loved women of this vicinity, and during her half-century's residence here she was more highly esteemed with each passing year. Mrs. Warren was not only a native Kentuckian, but a typical Southern lady, of kind disposition, affahle and refined manner. She was prior to ner marriage, Miss Mollie French, and was born in Russellville, Ky., about 68 years ago, raise his fish net. There are no Mrs. McRee is the daughter of but left her former home at the age known eye-witnesses to his drowning, Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Brevard, one of 15 years, coming to Hickman, where she has since resided. In this city she made the acquaintance of Geo. Warren to whom she was married in December, 1869. Her husband will be remembered as the former editor of this paper, which he owned and published for 40 years, death ending his career some ten years ago. Mrs. Warren was a devout member of the Episcopal church, and was a christian lady ln the fullest sense of the word-kind and charitable in her every, act.

Funeral services were conducted at the family residence on Moulton street, Sunday afternoon at 5 o'clock by Rev. C. L. Price, of Fulton, In sorrowing friends. Interment at the City Cemetery. The great mass of withering blossoms which mark her last resting place is a silent but forceful mark of the estimation in which she was held.

Mrs. Warren is survived by two daughters-Mrs. Harry Elison and and Mrs. Nannie Kingman, toth of Hickman-who have the sympathy of the entire community in the .os: of their dearest and hest friend-noth-

Conscious and free from fever, he was barely able to articulate, but when delirious fancies possessed him he could talk rapidly, in a good voice. Very soca it was clear that he was calmer for the colonel's presence, Hence, the latter got into the habit of sitting in the room. He would request imaginary ruined and desperate helings to leave Keatchsm in peace; he would gravely rise and close the door on their departure. He aever was surprised nor at a less; 'nnd his dramatic nerve never failed. Later, aa the visions faded, a moody reserve wrapped the sick man. He isy motionless, evidently nhserbed by thought. In one way he was what doctors call a very good patient. He obeyed all directions; he was not restless. But neither was he ever cheerful. Every he asked for his pulse record and his temperature and his respiration. After a consultation with the doctor, Miss Smith gave them to him.

'it is against the rules." grumbled the doctor, "but I suppose each patient has te mske his own rules." the same theory he permitted the colonel's viaits.

Therefore, with no surprise, Winter received and obeyed the summons. Keatcham greeted him with his usual stiff courtesy.

"The doctor says I can have thepapers-will you pick out-the-oneday after I was stabbed."

Miss Smith indicated n plie on little table, placed ready at hand. kept them for him," she asid. 'Itead about-the Midland," com manded the faint indomitable veice. "Want the election and the newspa per sentiments?' asked the celonel; he gave it all, conscious the while of Janet Smith's compassionate, perplexed, sorrowful eyes.

"Don't skip!" Keatcham managed to articulate after a pause.

The colonel gave him a keen glance "Want it straight, without a chaser? Keatcham closed his eyes and nodded.

The colonel read about the virtually unanimous election of Tracy; the astonishment of the outsiders among the supposed anti-Tracy element; the composed and impenetrable front of the men closest to Kestcham; the reticence and aminbility of Tracy himself, in whose rulen there could be detected no hint either of hostility or of added cordinity toward the men who had been expected "to drag his bleeding pride in the dust;" thusly of the response of the stock-market in a phenomenal rise of Midland.

Keatchair, listened with his unde capherable mank of attention; there was not so much as the flicker of an eyelld or the twitch of a muscle. All "Now, read if there is he sald was: auything about the endowment of the new fellowships in aome medical schools for experimental research,"

"Who gives the endowment?" "Anopymous. In niemory of Maria Warren Kenichami and Helen Bradford Keatcham. Find anything?"

The colonel found a great deal about it. 'The paper was full of this millions of dollars and filling (with mest earefully and wisely planned detalls) an almost absolute vacuum in the American scheme of education. The dignity and fame of the chairs and fellowships endowed were ample to tempt the best ability of the profession. The render grew enthugiastic as he read.

"Why, it's immense! And we have always needed it!" he exclaimed.

"There are some fetters about it, there"-Keatcham feebly motioned to a number of nently-opened, neatly-ussorted letters on a desk. "The doctor said I might have the letters read to me. Miss Smith got him to. For fear of exciting you, the doctors usually let you worry your head off because you don't know about thlugs. I've got to carry a few things through If it kills me. Don't you see ?"

"I see," said the colonel, "you shall." The next time he saw the financier, although only a few days had clapsed, he was much stronger; he was able to breathe comfortably, he spoke with ease, in his ordinary voice; in finc, he looked his old self again, merely thinner and paler. Hardly was the colonel seated before he said without preface -Keatcham never made approaches to his subject, regarding conversational road-making as wasto of brains for a busy man:

"Colonel, Miss Smith hasn't time to be my nurse and secretary both. won't have one sent from New York; will you help her out?"

The colonel's lips twitched; he was thinking that were Miss Smith working for Atkins, ahe couldn't have a better chance to make a killing. "Itut i'li bet my life ahe isa't," he added; "she may he trying to save his life, but she isn't playing his game!"

lie sald aloud: "I will, Mr. Keatcham, if you will let me do it as part of the obligation of the situation; and there is so bally rot about compensation."

"Very well," said Kentcham. He did not hesitate, it was (as the colonel had already discovered) the rarest thing in the werld for him to hesitate; he thought with astonishing rapidity; and he formulated his answer while his interlocuter talked; before the speech was ever the answer was ready. Another trait of his had struck the addier, namely, the laborious correctness of his speech; it was often formal and eld-fashlened; Aunt Rebecca asid that he talked like Danjei Webster's speeches; hut it had none of the hemely and pungent savor one might expect from a man whose boyhood had scrambled through miners' camps into a San Francisco stock office; who had never gene to school in his life by daylight; who had been mine superintendent, small speculator and small director in California until he became a big speculator and big railway controller in New York.

"You might begin on the morning Kentcham continued. "Let me sort them first." He merely glanced at the inscriptions on the envelopes, opening and taking out one which he read rather carelessly, frowning a little before he placed it to one sido. A number of the letters concerned the endowmenta of the experimental chairs at the universities. Keatcham's nttention was not lightened by any ray of pleasure. Once he said: "That fellow has caught my idea," and once: 'That's right," but there was no animation in his voice, no interest in his pallid face. Stealing a furtive scrutlny of it, new and then, Rupert Wiater was impressed with its mystical likeness to that of Cary Mercer. There was no physical similarity of color or feature; it was a fikeness of the spirit rather than the flesh. The colonel's eyes flashed.

"I have it!" he exclaimed within, "I have it; they are fanatics, both of them; Keatcham's a fanatic of finance and Mercer is a fanatic of another aort; hut fanntics they both are, rendy to go any length for their principles or their ambitions or their revenge! J'ai trouve le mot d'enigme, as Aunt Becky would say-I wonder what she'il this stalden payehological splurge of mine."

"The business Your is up"-It was Misa Smith entering with a bowl on a white-covered tray; the sun glinted the lump of ice in the milk and the silver spoon was dazzling against the linen-"your biscuit and milk, Mr. Kentcham. Didn't you have it when you were a boy?"

"I did, Miss Janet"-and Keatchain actually smiled. "I used to think crackers and mlik the nleest thing in the world."

"That is because you never tasted cern pone and mllk; but you are go ing to.

"When you make it for me. I'm glad you're auch a good cook. It's one of your ways I like. My mother was a very good cook. She could make botter dishes out of almost nothing than these mongrel chefs can make with the whole world."

"I'd like it. My mother used to make more money than my father; sometimes when we children were low in clothes and dad owed a higger lot of money than usual, we had a lauadry at our house as well as a hakery. Yet, in spite of all the work, my mother found time to teach all of us: and she knew how to teach, too; for she was principal of a school when my father married her. She was a New Englander; so was he; but they went west. We're forty-niners, i saw the place where our little cloth-andhoard shack used to stand. After the blg fire, you know. It hurned us all up; we had saved a good deal and up; we had anveu a mother. She my mother had a nice bakery. She worked too hard; it killed her.

'They died?" said Miss Janet, "Diphtheria. They didn't know any thing about the disease then. Wo all had it; and my little sister and both my hrothers died; but I'm tough. I lived. My mother fell into what they called a decline. I was making a little money then-I was 16; but I couldn't keep her from working. Perhaps it made no difference; but it did make a difference her not having the -the right kind of food. He stopped abruptly, crimsoning up to his eyes-"I don't know why I'm telling you nil

"I call that tough"-as the colone blurted out the words, he was conscious of a sense of repetition. When had he said those very same words before, to whom? Of all people in the world, to Cnry Mercer. "Mighty tough," murmured he softiy,

"Yes," said Keatcham, "It was." He did not say anything more. Neither did the colonel. Keatchsm obediently ate his milk and biscult; and very abortly the colonel took his leave.

The next morning after an uneventful hour of aorting, rending and answering letters for Mian Smith to copy on the traveling typewriter, Keatcham gave his new secretary a aharp sensa tion; he ordered in his quiet but peremptory fashlon: "Now put that trush away; sit down; tell me all you know of Cary—real name is Cary Mercer,

The colonel said it was; he asked him if he wanted everything

"Everything. Straight. T'tthout chaser," snapped Keatcham.

The colonel gave it to him. He be gan with his own acquaintance; he more of it. I was shut up with tho told about Phil Mercer: he did not alur results of my-my work. Keatchsm did not smile; he hlinked his eyes and nodded. "I presume a good many people share your opinion of Hs.

"Millions," replied the colonel. Again Keatcham nodded. "I thought so," said he. "Of course you are all off; Wall street is an necessary to the commonwealth as the pores to your skin; they don't make the poison in the system any more than the pores do; they only let it escape. Obedienca.

Prompt and unquestioning ohedience is the corner stone of the foundation of succes in life. No man can give orders properly who has not learned to take them, and "save he serve, no man may tule." It will be found that the men who have won their way to positions of power and responsibility have invariably been the men who did not remon or argue or even "respectfully represent," but who promptly did as they were commanded without questioning. It is the large man, not the little man, who recognizes a superior authority.

Free Liquor For a Year,

A little over a year ago the teetotalers got busy in this town and when they got through there was not an open shop where could be bought a morning nip or a noonday cooling stein. The tinkle of the ice in the highball became a memory.

John Morrison Fuller, millionaire resident and leading light liked it not. He opened up "personal liber-ty hall" and for 12 long months beer flowed to all who would partake of it without money and without price. Small Boy's Essay.

Here's a small boy's essay on newspapers. He ought to make a good editor when he grows up:

"Newspapers are sheets of paper on which stuff to read is printed The men look it over and see their names in it. I don't think God does The Bible says nothing about editors, and I never heard of one beirg in heaven. The first editor I heard of was the feliow who wrete up the flood. He has been here ever since Some editors belong to the church and try to raise whiskers. All of them raise Cain in their neighborhoods

"Sometimes the paper dies and then people feel glad, but someone starts it up again. Editors never went to school because editors don't get licked. Our paper is a mighty poor one, but we take it so ma can put it on her pantry shelves. Our editor don't amount to much, but pa said he had a poor chance when a boy. He goes without underclothes in winter, wears no socks and has his wife to support him. Pa has not paid his subscription in five years, and don't intend to."

Hickman testimony proves it always reliable. Thomas Creed, of Hickman, Ky.,

says: "For two or three years my kidneys did not act properly. There was a steady pain in the small of my back and whenever I stooped or lifted, sharp twinges datted through my loins. My back ached at night and when I arose in the morning, I was so lame that I could hardly walk. I often suffered from ner vous spells, occasionally felt languid and became easily tired. Headaches also troubled me and I was very dizzy at times. The secretions from my kidneys contained a sedlment and I was often forced to arise during the night on account of their too frequent passages. Whenever I caught cold it settled on my kindeys and greatly aggravated my suffer-ing. Finally I learned of Doan's Kidney Pills and procured a box at Helm & Ellison's drug store I used them in accordance with the directions and one oox relieved me. I can recommend Doan's Kidney Pills as a very reliable kidney remedy."
